

The Third Brands Hatch Half Marathon Plus 10k and One-Mile Fun race

In support of LEUKAEMIA RESEARCH
HODGKIN'S | LYMPHOMA | MYELOMA

9 February 2008

At Brands Hatch motor racing track (off the A20)

Ever wondered what it would be like to run around the world-famous Brands Hatch motor racing circuit? Well, now's your chance.

Running fitness, the magazine for people passionate about running, has once again teamed up with leading specialist brand Saucony to bring you a racing experience like no other.

The Brands Hatch Half Marathon is in its third year and continues to go from strength to strength. Why? Because there's virtually no other races like it in the country. Competitors will be able to tread the same ground that racing legends like Prost, Piquet and Moss have burned round in former years.

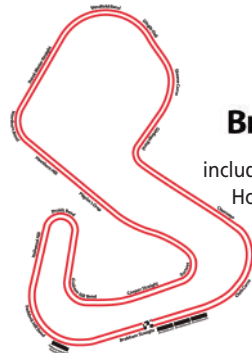

You'll start and finish on the grid, before heading out on a testing 13-mile course that will take in the whole of the circuit, making it a day to remember. And, with a 10k run and the one-mile Bananaman Chase, supporting the official charity for this year's race, Leukaemia Research, there's something for all the family to enjoy.

Competitors will be able to toe the line with the TV Times celebrities, one of the official sponsors of Leukaemia Research, the only charity in the UK dedicated exclusively to researching blood cancers and disorders including leukaemia, Hodgkin's and other lymphomas, and myeloma.

Brands Hatch

Perfect for every runner preparing for the Flora London

Marathon, this unique event is also a great race for first-timers and experienced athletes alike as the fast course is traffic free.

So, come and join the Running fitness team, Saucony and Leukaemia Research and experience an event you'll definitely not forget!
